CHILD SAVING WORK IN ARMENIA TOLD BY AN AMERICAN

Charles V. Vickrey Gives Facts of Near East Relief Program for Orphans.

Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of the Near East Relief, has returned from a trip of inspection throughout Central Europe and the Near East, and made a report to the trustees of the Near East Relief in which he covers in detail the actual work of child saving now being conducted by the great American relief organization in the Near East. Mr. Vickrey believes that "a few millions of dollars wisely expended at this time in the education of the children of the Near East, in character building and in moulding these young lives, will be worth vastly more to the world

Mr. Vickrey considers the need in the Near East and especially in Armenia greater than anywhere else in the world, because, as he says, "In the countries of Central Europe there are going goverumehts which have merely been temporarily impoverished by war. In the Near East, on the other hand, there is no such thing as stable government. The whole fabric of the state has to be created from the beginning, and the innocent and helpless children have to be trained to the responsibilities of future citizenship. Peace in the Near East and, in great measure, throughout the world, will depend very largely on the character of the citizenship of the peoples of the Near East."

Irresistible Appeal of Orphans.

Describing the orphanage work of the Near East Relief in the Armenian Republic, Mr. Vickrey said:

"We have at Alexandropol in the Caucasus, one orphanage where there are approximately 10,000 homeless children, fatherless or motherless, many of them having no known living relative. Some of them do not even know their own names, or the place of their birth. They have shown wonderful recuperative powers, and to see them play their kindergarten or other games under the direction of our American relief workers, one could never believe that they had passed through the years of suffering that most of them have experienced since they, or their parents, were driven from their homes in Central Turkey five years ago.

"For the accommodation of these orphans there are sixty splendid stone buildings, erected as barracks for the Russian army. These buildings are now given to us by the Armenian government for a period of ten years and lend themselves admirably to relief purposes.

"This orphanage at Alexandropol is but one of the 229 orphanages that the Near East Relief is now operating in various parts of the Caucasus, Anatolia, Cilicia, Syria and the Constantinople-Straits area.

"Thirty miles from Alexandropol, at Kars, there is another group of Russian army barracks, which were given us by the Armenian government for relief purposes. I was going through the dormitories of this orphanage at Kars when the young American college girl in charge turned to me and said: 'Mr. Vickrey, it sometimes makes me feel just a little older than Methuselah to be called "Mother" by 6,000 of those Armenian children.' And that is exactly what she was—the only mother that these 6,000 Armenian children have, except as she avails herself of the organized assistance of native Armenian women, in caring for this large family.

"In the hospital at Kars I found 1,150 beds, which, the day I was there, were occupied by 1,268 patients, it frequently being necessary to put two or more children in a single bed. At Alexandropol we have in one hospital, or group of hospital buildings, 1,560 trachoma patients. At Karaklis, forty miles east of Alexandropol we have an orphanage devoted exclusively to the care and training of the blind children. At Delijan we have another orphanage, located on a mountain side, for the care of tubercular children, this segregation being as much for the welfare of the healthy children in the orphanages as for the care of the unfortunate consumptives. At Erivan we formerly had twenty-six distinct orphanages, though they have now been reduced and consolidated to seven in number. There are something more than 6,000 orphans in the region of Harpout."

Wounded By Accidental Discharge of His Duty

General Stonewall Jackson was a kindly man but devotion to duty was his watchword He was a soldier first and a considerate gentleman afterwards. For instance, a captain on his staff had roused his ire more than once by sins of omission along the line of duty. Just before the battle of Gaines' Mill, the captain's services were required to carry an important dispatch, but he could not be found at headquarters. An orderly, sent to search for him, reported he had been wounded.

"Wounded!" exclaimed Major Elwood, another member of the staff. "Why there has been no fighting since I saw him late last night."

Stonewall's beard began to bristle. "Captain Blank was undoubtedly wounded by the accidental discharge of his duty," he snorted.

Thousands of Americans today are fooling with the "unloaded" gun of duty. It is the duty of every man to provide for his future and for the safety and happiness of those dependent upon him, to lay aside regularly a certain portion of the yield of his hands and brain. Properly discharged, that duty is a weapon of safety and protection. Improperly discharged—like the "unloaded" gun—it may cripple you for life and ruin the future of those dear to you.

The only safe way to discharge that duty is through sound, profitable, regular investment. Such investments are now ready at hand. The United States Government will continue to issue the Government Savings Securities which have been the safeguard of the savings of so many workers of the country since 1917. Through these investments the money you save can be made to yield a safe and profitable return.

Stonewall "seen his duty and he done it." If you see your duty, you can discharge it through regular saving and investment in government securities. Discharge your duty but don't do it accidentally, like Stonewall Jackson's young captain.

There are no habits that so surely lead to real success as those of Saving; no power is so great as the power of thrift.

Learn to SAVE money. A part of what you make regularly put into War Savings Stamps will in a short time start you on the road to success.

Pains Were Terrific

Read how Mrs. Albert Gregory, of R. F. D. No. 1, Bluford, Ill., got rid of her ills. "During . . . I was awfully weak . . . My pains were terrific. I thought I would die. The bearing-down pains were actually so severe I could not stand the pressure of my hands on the lower part of my stomach . . . I simply felt as if life was for but a short time. My husband was worried . . . One evening, while reading the Birthday Almanac, he came across a case similar to mine, and went straight for some Cardui for me to try.

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"I took it faithfully and the results were immediate," adds Mrs. Gregory. "I continued to get better, all my ills left me, and I went through . . . with no further trouble. My baby was fat and strong, and myself—thank God—am once more hale and hearty, can walk miles, do my work, though 44 years old, feel like a new person. All I owe to Cardui." For many years Cardui has been found helpful in building up the system when run down by disorders peculiar to women.

Lumber is Down

Yes, Lumber Is Down—Down to where a farmer can afford to build anything that can be made of lumber even in the face of a low market on farm products.

Lumber Was The Last Great Commodity To Go Up and the first to come down. Today lumber prices are down to where it is hard to see how they can go any lower when costs are considered.

You Farmers Have Reason To Be Disappointed In the returns from last year's crops, but with lumber selling on the present basis we don't believe you can afford not to do whatever building or repairing may be necessary before Spring work commences.

Whether It's a Barn, or a Shed, or Just Some boards for fixing up around the place, the facts about lumber will appeal to any man or woman who believes in thrift and knows values.
